"our biggest Problem"

It is with the highest regard that I look at your graduation. I am happy with you. We have tried hard to let each of you drink at the fountain of knowledge by orienting you with as many different fields of learning as are possible with the limitations of our particular school. We have tried to show you that to all wisdom and knowledge there is a center, which is Christ. "In Him are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge "We do not apologize for trying to make the spiritual challenge the highest of all, with due respect, of course, for other life appeals. Finally, we expect to be rewarded for our labors in what you do and in what you eventually accomplish. I hope it may not be selfishness if I say that we are expecting through you, to extend our own influence and service. If you do well, we teachers shall have done well. Do not disappoint us! To you, the graduating class of 1951, God's richest blessings.

E Religious 23 Life Committee

SINCE J.M.S. was founded with the idea of supplying a Christian education for youth of the Mennonite Church, naturally the uppermost concern at this school is the spiritual life of its students. Therefore, it is quite necessary that the committee responsible for religious activities be the best committee of the school with only those students of high ideals serving as members. Not only is this committee, which is headed by a faculty member, responsible for each devotional period at the beginning of every day, but also for all other religious activities of the school.

For the daily devotional period much thought is given by the committee to make the programs interesting, different, and spiritually uplifting. The singing alone is an inspiration to the listener. Talks on such themes as Great Christian Men. Missions, Hymn Interpretations, and Promises of God are given by faculty members and students alike.

During Winter Bible School the committee brings, to the school, many outside speakers from the Bible School, thereby acquainting the student body with men of the Mennonite Church at large.

In summary I would say that this committee fulfills the most important work in the school.

music

USIC commands outstanding enthusiasm at our school. Certainly life at J. M.S. would be drab without music. It is said that music is the art of making harmonious combinations of sound, and that it certainly is at J. M.S. The heart-warming songs of our morning devotional periods have brought many comments from school visitors during the past, and the "down to the people" music programs rendered each year by the school music groups - mixed chorus, octet, and quartets - have brought banners from all sections of the Mennonite Church where they were given. We are glad that we can sing the good hymns of the Church hymnal and Life Songs along with Negro Spirituals and harder sheet music.

Indeed, it would be hard to imagine a J. M. S. without music.

UR 1950 Chorus Tour was not as long as the one taken the year before, but I think everyone enjoyed it anyhow. May 6, at 7:30 A.M., we started on our tour. Traveling was very hot and we stopped at two places, before reaching Souderton, to cool off and rest. Arriving at our destination at 5:00 P.M., we were ushered to the home of Russell Musselman for a delicious supper. Early Sunday morning we drove to Paoli for a forenoon program and dinner at Milton Brackbill's. Sunday afternoon saw our school bus driving hard to reach Greenwood. Delaware. Here we received a cordial reception and an inviting supper. Before leaving next morning we sang at the Parochial school and the Greenwood public high school. A chance to wade in the Atlantic, a ferry boat ride, and a bountiful supper at Jonas Hege's were some of the highlights of the trip home. Although very tired from the trip, we sang at Schellsburg Wednesday evening of that week. To inspire the lives of fellow Christians and draw others to the fold was the aim of this tour. May this have been accomplished.

Fidelian Literary

E are the Fidelians, the faithful and truet We love our society, and do our best to make it a success. Whether a speaker, listener, actor, president, or usher, each one of us has a definite place in our literary, and no one needs to feel "left out". We take in newcomers gladly and make them feel at home immediately.

Besides the regular programs we had debates, spelling bees, and sports tournaments with the Neo-Discarians.

Our literary has given us opportunities to increase our knowledge and gain more experience in public speaking. Things such as this are a definite part of our training for service to our Lord.

Neo-Discarian Speeches Literary Linu Drills

N is for Neo Here are the friends we hold so dear D is for Discarian The society we cheer.

HE youthful learners of the Neo-Discarian literary society met determined to strive for greater aims and goals in 1951. Our interesting meetings are held twice a month with beaming members ready for action. Bro. Lehman is a very good advisor and often reminds us of "Robert's Rules of Order" in our meetings. "NOT FOR SCHOOL BUT FOR LIFE WE LEARN." is our motto.

This club consists of eight members. The purpose of this club is to learn how to identify birds according to their calls and colors and study their habits. Some of their meetings were spent in doing the following: listening to bird calls on records, hiking afield, and studying indoors.

Advisor -- Stanwyn G. Shetler

Woodworking Club This club meets in a well equipped shop near the school. Each member is responsible to complete a project with the aid and advice of the advisor Covel Thomas. Amount

It is the purpose of the Athletic Committee to provide the necessary equipment for wholesome recreation within our school. Our group consists of five high school pupils and a faculty advisor chosen by the students. It is their duty to purchase and care for our recreational supplies.

The finances of the committee are given by the pupils of the school. We have organized tournaments for softball, soccer. basketball, volleyball, football, and baseball.

Social ActivitEA

We did not forget namely socials. It seems these are just as much a part of school life as studying history. English, and mathematics. Many of our great-grandparents would have disagreed with us on this. I believe, but nevertheless it is true. This is one way of learning to live together.

On Friday afternoon of the first week of school, we had a hurried surprize social in the woods near the school. We played games, sang, and had a few refreshments.

Another social took us to Sideling Hill on the back of Walter Alwine's truck, ending with a hike through the woods, (one group got lost!) and supper by firelight.

One cold night in December a large group of school students and alumni gathered in "the hollow" for a sledding party! No one will forget the bobsled rides (if they weren't too timid to take one). After everyone was well "cooled off" they went to the school for rolls and hot chocolate. Imagine how good things tasted after all appetites had been sharpened by the cold winds.

Altogether, I believe our socials have been very enjoyable and long and fond will be the memories of them at our good old J. M. S.

TUDIES? Yes there were plenty of them this year. We were exposed to the required amount of the "r's" In addition we studied the history of our country industries of the world, the mechanics of our bodies and how to use the English language.

Neither did we neglect the spiritual side of life. We learned about the beginning and progress of our Indian mission. A map of our Indian mission field and a panorama of an Indian Village were two of our projects. Another was the compiling of a scrapbook of our Mennonite foreign Even so we had time for enjoying life. We read poems together for the enjoyment of them. We also enjoyed reading several books together. None of us will ever forget the adventures of Anne at Green Gables or Rebecca at the brick house in old Hungary with Cousin Kate from Budapest.

All work and no play is not recommended at J M. S , so we took some time to play. During the first half of the year we had one period a week in which we played games. Second semester the literaries and clubs claimed our spare time. The highlights of the year were the three evening socials. How we enjoyed the thrill of having the place to ourselves for the evening A hayride on a frosty, autumn, moonlit night and playing "Hide-and-seek" in a partly darkened building are some of the happy memories. Our springtime social was also one which was packed with unforgetable good times.

As we look back we can say that this has been a most happy and profitable year. We will carry many happy memories of a pleasant year together.

UR "Bee Hive;" consists of 26 workers with no drones and no dull moments.

Our day begins with devotion and singing. Our noon meal is preceded by singing a prayer song or by someone leading in giving thanks.

At Christmas time we took part in the program the school gave at the First Mennonite Church in Johnstown.

In Bible class we studied the plan of salvation, the Holy Spirit and the doctrines of our church. We have gained a greater appreciation for our church through this study.

If the pupils seem a little "far away" at times it is possibly because in their Geography Class they are on an extensive tour of South America.

During intermissions on cold winter days the boys set up a miniature Farm Show and also constructed a wooden barn. The girls chief diversion is checkers.

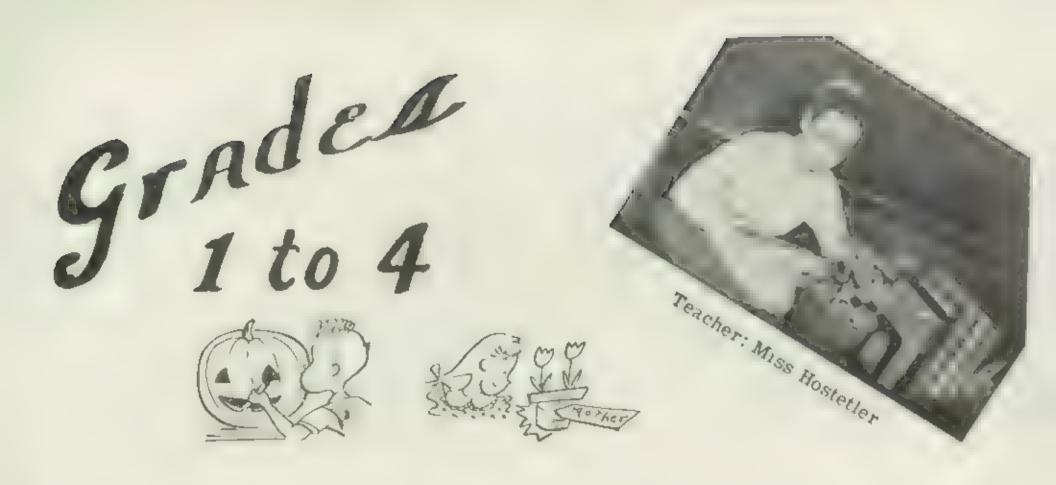

Our year was highlighted by such little affairs as a Halloween Party another on Valentine's Day and a taffy pull in the Spring.

Assurance of Salvation By John R. Mumaw

"There are two extreme positions which we must be taught to avoid. One is that which says that assurance is presumption -- that we cannot know that we are saved until we have passed the judgment. Many of our elders, in a mistaken humility and diffidence, held this view, and approached death with fear and trembling. The older extreme has come into our way of thinking from a system of theology which teaches eternal security through the choice and order of a sovereign God." - Paul Erb, in the Preface
